Thus, we might understand the sort of love at issue in (4) to be, roughly, a matter of caring about another person as the person she is, for her own sake. (Accordingly, (3) may be understood as a kind of deficient mode of the sort of love we typically reserve for persons.)

Love (Stanford Encyclopedia of Philosophy)

As has been said, Divine Love which enters into union with an individual spirit (which is itself Divine) in the form of recognisable and tangible personal love, can come when the strong desire to know and experience the love of God is in the heart, although this union is not dependent upon conscious desire as it is received also by those who have not been consciously seeking it. The Contemplative will be desiring the love of God as his or her main goal, and working towards that end.

Blessed Union Of Souls- "I Believe" (with lyrics) - YouTube

"You see the first thing we love is a scene. For love at first sight requires the very sign of its suddenness; and of all things, it is the scene which seems to be seen best for the first time: a curtain parts and what had not yet ever been seen is devoured by the eyes: the scene consecrates the object I am going to love.
